Product Focus Cabinet Handles

A C Sissling stock a wide range of cabinet hardware handles, from traditional fretback designs to highly modern brushed aluminium and stainless steel patterns.

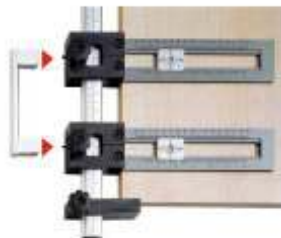

Handles and knobs allow ergonomic access to furniture. In addition to pure functionality, they must harmonize with and complete the overall design, and also set visual highlights.

With product ranges available from Fingertip Design,

Häfele and Hettich you'll be spoiled for choice, you can find the Fingertip Design range on our web store at www.acsissling.com.

Fitting cabinet handles can be a tricky process, especially if you are installing new drawer or door fronts, to simplify this we are able to supply for daily hire a drilling jig that allows for speedy and very accurate drilling of screw holes.

The Accura drilling Gauge is a universal, professional drilling guage system. It is easy to use, economical and has all the benefits of modularity.

Different drilling jigs and stops are positioned as required on slides with measurement scales graded in millimetres and imperial units. The scale gradings and the system design support drilling of 32mm pitch lines.

Call Mark or Gary on 01274 200320 for more details.

The Pro-Decor range of cabinet handles from Hettich offer something for everyone. From retro zinc to leather, plastic, glass, marble and granite the range will include a handle to suit the most demanding of applications be it a child's bedroom or a highly exclusive city design project.

Cabinet Handles

Cabinet handles are available in a wide variety of materials to suit any application.

The information below describes some of the materials used and their application.

Material sources relate to the Hettich ProDecor range of cabinet handles.

Steel - Strong and Serviceable

Handles made of steel have a variety of uses. Sleek segment pulls and bow or railing handles made of steel always look good on any furniture. The different surface finishes underline the attractiveness of this handle range.

Finish: The surface of steel handles is galvanically chrome-plated, either gloss or matt, or nickel-plated.

Steel handles can be given a stainless steel finish; they are nickel-plated, brushed and coated with a protective lacquer to optically mimic stainless steel.

Steel handles can be painted or powder-coated in a range of colours.

Applications: Steel is a versatile and practical material and steel handles have proved their worth in the home and in business and public premises.

Zinc - Modern Classics

The combination of metal handles and knobs with high quality furniture never goes out of fashion.

Depending on the overall style, the effect can be traditional or strikingly modern. Outstanding design and a large number of variants make metal handles and knobs real eyecatchers.

Finish: Galvanic surfaces can be nickel- or chrome-plated, either gloss or matt.

A brushed, nickel-plated surface is called a stainless steel finish because it optically mimics this material. This finish has the same properties as a galvanically treated surface with a protective coating.

Gold- or brass-plated finishes give an optical impression of a solid gold or brass handle. The surface is coated with a clear lacquer for protection.

Knobs and handles can be powder-coated in any colour or given a sleek, modern aluminium finish - the scope for special effects and attractive combinations is huge.

Applications: Metal handles are always a practical choice - at home, in the office, in the workshop, or in a hospital. The very wide range of designs means there is a handle for every piece of furniture and every taste.

Stainless Steel - Timeless Elegance

Stainless steel is an outstanding material - it always looks good. Handles and knobs made of stainless steel are impervious to corrosive substances. This is the material of choice for hard use and extreme conditions.

Finish: All stainless steel handles are corrosion-resistant. The alloy substances in stainless steel create a passive protective surface layer so that no additional protection is necessary.

Applications: Stainless steel handles and knobs are used wherever a heavy-duty material with high corrosion resistance is required.

Stainless steel is the ideal material for handles and knobs in kitchens, bathrooms, offices, ships, in the catering industry and in the medical and medical technology sector.

Brass - A Touch of Class

Expertly made and finished for optimal functionality, gleaming brass knobs are highly decorative. Solid brass knobs are available in different finishes - polished, nickel- or chrome-plated or lacquered - to match the furniture type and design.

Finish: To ensure that the gleaming brass finish does not tarnish and to protect the metal against corrosion, it is coated with a lacquer after polishing. Brass blanks can also be galvanically coated or even given a coloured finish.

Applications: Brass knobs with a white or clear coating are used in period furniture for kitchens and bathrooms. Galvanically coated versions are also used on modern furniture in all living areas. A matt chrome-plated surface harmonizes especially well with aluminium frames and fronts.

Porcelain - Striking and Classy

Porcelain is a fine material, expressive and versatile. Porcelain knobs add their distinctive style to a piece of furniture and simply ask to be touched.

Finish: The smooth porcelain surface can be enhanced with coloured designs or golden details.

Knobs that combine porcelain and brass are very decorative and highlight the special style of the furniture.

Application: Porcelain knobs are used mainly in country-style kitchens and on traditional furniture.

Granite - Rock of Ages

Granite - hard and enduring, created by natural forces millions of years ago - is a highly-valued material. The unique structure and coloration of every individual piece make granite especially attractive. Combined with stainless steel bases, granite knobs and handles have an ageless appeal. Symbols engraved in colour on the stone add interesting highlights.

Applications: With their evocative lifestyle image, granite handles and knobs are increasingly in demand for luxury kitchens and bathrooms. Granite handles are used predominantly in public spaces and reception desks in offices and hotels.

Finish: The finely polished surface is treated with oil for high resistance to traces of daily use and environmental effects. Oiling also makes the surface smoother and more pleasant to touch.

Colours: Granite comes in different basic colours:

Black granite - Impala - from Africa
Grey granite - Hauzenberger - from Germany
Beige granite - Eitzinger - from Germany
Black granite - Black Swedish - from Sweden
Grey granite - Hauzenberger - from Germany
Blue granite - Azul do Bahia - from Brazil
Red granite - Multicolor red - from India
Grey granite - Pandang - from China
Black granite - Impala - from Africa

A splash of colour: Handles and knobs for children

Knobs and handles for children's furniture encourage play and imagination. Bright and cheerful, they are also solid and safe.

Finish: the bright colours encourage children to grasp the handle, at the same time the paint and varnish protect the wood against wear and tear. The paints and varnishes used on children's knobs and handles are specially tested and non-poisonous, so that there is absolutely no health risk.

Applications: The colourful and imaginative wooden handles are used on children's furniture, like chests of drawers, cupboards and whatever else children like to get a grip
